

One summer's day the sea was blue
The bluest ever seen
But Willy Whale had turned quite pale
In fact, he had turned green
“There, there,” said Doctor Dolphin
“This is no time to cry
“I know your plight, you dined last night
“On too much plankton pie!”
The doctor made him better
But would not charge a fee
So Willy Whale turned on his tail
And swam away with glee